

Automate your web accessibility testing.

uTester performs consistent regression and user experience testing to meet the needs of enterprise-level web properties and check accessibility errors against industry standards, compliance laws or your own customized guidelines.

Combining cutting-edge technology, a best-in-class validations and rules engine, and robust reporting, uTester is the ideal solution to create a blueprint for fixing errors and achieving web accessibility.

Is uTester a good fit for you?

-  Inconsistent results from different accessibility checkers confuse and frustrate your developers
-  You're investing too much time or resources in manual accessibility testing
-  You don't have clear direction on how to fix errors once you've found them
-  You're still getting issue tickets weeks after deploying the code
